PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Due to customer feedback, we have changed the Apollo Monitor ground base safety chain to a high-strength woven nylon strap assembly. This is the same product currently used on our Mercury and MercuryMaster portable monitors.

The “hammer” on the end of the old safety chain is no longer needed because the new carbide-tipped ground spikes do not require striking to help set them in place like the original all-steel units. Moving to a nylon strap will prevent corrosion from occurring. The new safety strap uses zinc-dichromate coated hardware that is corrosion resistant and will provide years of trouble-free service.
